

Point of View and why

STORY START—write the start of your story here (hook). Do not be concerned with convention errors. In addition, this is a draft of your hook. You will revise it and get feedback before adding it to your story.

Format and why

Character(s): give specific information about the characters—make them real

Setting: give specific information that makes the setting real—5 senses (you can also write the setting below)

